DISPATCHER

What do Dispatchers do?

Dispatchers answer calls and communicate with mobile units to send the appropriate response. They are responsible for receiving and transmitting pure and reliable messages, tracking vehicles and equipment, and recording other important information. Dispatchers are calm, clear, and in control, especially in emergency situations. They know the appropriate responses, no matter the situation, whether it's how many trucks to send to pick up materials, or how many fire engines need to respond to a fire. They schedule and dispatch workers, work crews, equipment, or service vehicles for conveyance of materials, freight, or passengers, or for normal installation, service, or emergency repairs rendered outside the place of business. Dispatchers maintain record logs and prepare detailed reports on all activities. Many dispatchers employ computer-aided dispatch systems to accomplish these tasks.
